

Mixed Conditionals B2-C1 Test 1

1. You /be/ in terrible trouble right now if you /not finish/ your report yesterday.
 - A. You would be in terrible trouble right now if you hadn't finished your report yesterday.
 - B. You would be in terrible trouble right now if you didn't finish your report yesterday.
 - C. You would have been in terrible trouble right now if you hadn't finished your report yesterday.

2. If you /do/ your homework yesterday, you /answer/ my question now! (There are more correct options).
 - A. If you had done your homework yesterday, you could answer my question now!
 - B. If you did your homework yesterday, you could answer my question now!
 - C. If you had done your homework yesterday, you'd be able to answer my question now!

3. If she /not stay/ up so late last night, she /not oversleep/ this morning.
 - A. If she didn't stay up so late last night, she wouldn't have overslept this morning.
 - B. If she didn't stay up so late last night, she wouldn't oversleep this morning.
 - C. If she hadn't stayed up so late last night, she wouldn't oversleep this morning.

4. If I /have/ a camera, I /take/ some pictures yesterday.
 - A. If I had a camera, I'd have taken some pictures yesterday.
 - B. If I had had a camera, I'd have taken some pictures yesterday.
 - C. If I had a camera, I'd take some pictures yesterday.

5. If you /do/ it yesterday, you /not must do/ do it now.
 - A. If you had done it yesterday, you wouldn't must do it now.
 - B. If you had done it yesterday, you wouldn't have had to do it now.
 - C. If you had done it yesterday, you wouldn't have to do it now.

6. If you /go/ to bed earlier, you /not yawn/ now.
 - A. If you had gone to bed earlier, you wouldn't yawn now.
 - B. If you'd have gone to bed earlier, you wouldn't yawn now.
 - C. If you went to bed earlier, you wouldn't yawn now.

7. If you /study/ harder, you /not be expelled from/ university now.
- A. If you studied harder, you wouldn't be expelled from university now.
 - B. If you had studied harder, you wouldn't have been expelled from university now.
 - C. If you had studied harder, you wouldn't be expelled from university now.
8. If she /not talk/ all day, her throat /not be/ sore now.
- A. If she hadn't been talking all day, her throat wouldn't be sore now.
 - B. If she hadn't talked all day, her throat wouldn't have been sore now.
 - C. If she didn't talk all day, her throat wouldn't be sore now.
9. If Peter /not steal/ the money, he /not be/ in prison now.
- A. If Peter didn't steal the money, he wouldn't be in prison now.
 - B. If Peter hadn't stolen the money, he wouldn't be in prison now.
 - C. If Peter wouldn't have stolen the money, he weren't in prison now.
10. If he /know/ me better, he /not say/ that.
- A. If he knew me better, he wouldn't have said that.
 - B. If he had known me better, he wouldn't said that.
 - C. If he had known me better, he wouldn't say that.